Although digital cameras and some camcorders allow ISO sensitivity adjustments, capturing vivid and deep colors indoors or in darkened areas require adequate lighting. Think about it. Most television shows and theatrical movies seem so bright and have intense clarity. That's because professionals use giga watts of lighting to assure valid color integrity. You can get that "enhanced" color too. It's easy! Just add the Led Video Light to your camcorder or digital camera when shooting in darkened or shadowed areas. This Camera Video Light is made of high quality materials, and can be used for 50,000 hours or more. Also, this Led Video Lighting is perfect for video applications. It is much brighter than standard bulbs. The Led Video Light keeps this light cool even after prolonged use. One color filter with one soft filter included to help you get a better light effect while taking photos. And this Camera Video Light can maintain accurate daylight balanced output. With this light, you are assured of an even balanced output for perfect videos or images every time. This light is a great addition to your camera. It is perfect in all situations. With slim lightweight design, this LED video light is convenient to use and take. It can also be operated by different kinds of power supplies. It's really a great choice for you!

Other Thoughts: This light was introduced to me by a couple of guys at a photo event in a club in baltimore. They were both using it on a couple of DSLRs. So, I bought one too. I love it. I have to tweak my settings a little bit in my camera, but it works great. I'd recommend this light to anyone who needs a good, inexpensive light for photo work.

Other Thoughts: I've been looking for an affordable cam light for quite a while. I even attempted to make my own. . . too awkward. I prefer clean and simple.

The LED Video Light is great for the price. It's compact, bright, light weight and holds a charge for about an hour after a full charge. The straight bracket is a nice added value.

I am impressed with the unit, the light it puts out.
Nicely defused (I am no expert - just a novice)
Gives an hour of light on a single charge, very nice

Other Thoughts: Short and sweet.

These are the BEST (inexpensive)lights you will find on the market for their quality.

All I can say is that these lights are a GREAT investment because... they weren't much of an investment to being with! ...and they work great!

Buy this. You won't be disappointed.

Other Thoughts: The light as other reviewers mentioned does what it's supposed to do very functional, tried all the battery mounts that came with it and all of them work, the dimmer works great and the light looks good.

Other Thoughts: I just got mine a few minutes ago and pulled it out of the packaging. Boy is it light and seems bright to me. I haven't done much testing with it. I have it on the charger now and will give it a workout after I get a full charge on it.

As far as the color it seems warmer than most LED lights. I have a few LED lights (round tent camp light and some flashlights) and it is much warmer than them.

Other Thoughts: I own couple of video light set big and small size, and this is the best useful model. It's very bright, compact, light weight, natural color temperature, ability of expansion, no heat, logn lasting for brightness, has a screw hole for tripod fastening. Most of video lights are only for recording movies but this one has many usages.

Other Thoughts: I paid a little money for this light. It charges fast, works way longer than other lights in this price range. A little cheap, but made of metal and quite useful. My camcorder has a widescreen display and you can angle the bracket forward so the light will not hit the screen. I got this so I could record in fairly low-light conditions, the kids, etc.

Pros: Easy to use, excellent brightness, white light of high quality. You can adjust the brightness according to the situation. In addition, you can check the battery level.

Cons: It could come with built-in rechargeable battery.

Other Thoughts: Use to shoot or to obtain a directed light in his photographs.

Other Thoughts: beautiful compact light yet powerful and efective. I would recomend has worked well for me as iv needed it. Do not wait be the first to get one in your family as end of year is almost here, and you dont want to miss grandmas smile at dinner this time. This light panel does what it says it will do. Construction is not heavy duty so I don't know how well it will stand up to heavy use; time will tell.
